PANEL MOCK-UP	 Even captured, drugged and unconscious, Uther would not let go of Excalibur. The Haruspex desperately tried to touch it, use it for Wessex's grim experiments... ... But to no avail. The sword was not to be touched by anyone other than the Pendragon. However, Gorlois' servant was sly, and discovered he could make use of the sword's magical properties without ever touching it. Merely a few drops of the oil produced by the blade under hot steam were enough to fuel a heinous creation...
NARRATION #1	Even captured, drugged and unconscious, Uther's grip on Excalibur was firm. The Haruspex desperately tried to take it for Wessex's grim experiments, but the sword was only to be touched by the Pendragon.
NARRATION #2	However, Gorlois's sly servant discovered how to make use of the sword's magical properties without a single touch. A few drops of oil, secreted by the blade under hot steam, were enough to fuel a heinous creation.

PANEL MOCK-UP	 Oblivious to the unspeakable acts being performed right next to him, Uther thought only of the unspeakable acts committed in his past. He had nothing on his delirious mind other than her... IGRAINE UTHER Her, with whom he shared his worries, his honor... Her, who shared with him her hopes, her complicity... And, in secretly lustful nights, her bed.
NARRATION #1	Oblivious to the unspeakable acts around him, Uther's delirious mind dwelled only on her...
NARRATION #2	Her, with whom he shared his worries... Her, who shared with him her hopes... And, in secret, her lust.

PANEL MOCK-UP
DESCRIPTION	Picture: The same as the previous picture, except the Augur is in Damien's place, and Leof is in Igraine's place, trying to stop Uther from killing the fay. Narration: Upper-left
NARRATION A (PLAYER HAS NOT STOLEN CALIBURN'S GOLD)	Though Uther's heart was clear, it remained heavy with the vile certainty he'd merely chosen the lesser evil.
NARRATION B (PLAYER STOLE CALIBURN'S GOLD)	He felt the sudden, crushing regret of one who'd destroy life and beauty for the sake of a corrupting desire. All for the greater good.
