Practice 1: A Musical Mouse

Read the selection, and then answer the questions that follow.

- (There are many different kinds of mice. Some are good swimmers; others like to swing from 1 trees by their tails. And one kind, the white-footed mouse, is not only a good swimmer and tree
2 climber, but it's also quite musical!
(This minute, furry creature's body is about 8 inches (20 cm) long, with a tail of another 3 inches
3 (7.5 cm). It weighs only about 0.8 ounces (23 g). It's been around North America for a long
4 time; scientists have found 40-million-year-old fossils of the tiny creature's ancestors!
(Some people call the white-footed mouse the "wood mouse" because it lives in so many wooded
5 areas throughout North America. Other people call the white-footed mouse the "deer mouse."
(One reason is that its fur is the same colors as a deer's—soft brown on its back; white on its
6 underside. Another reason is that the mice carry deer ticks that spread Lyme disease.
(The whitefoot makes its nest almost anywhere. It likes a home that is warm and dry, like a
7 hollow tree or empty bird's nest. But most of the time the whitefoot runs along the ground
8 looking for food. It eats seeds, nuts, leaves, bark, and insects. It sleeps by day and looks for food
9 at night—its long whiskers and big ears help it find its way in the dark.
(Does the whitefoot really make music? In a way, it does because it often makes a humming
10 sound. And it taps its little paws very fast on a dead leaf or hollow log to make a buzzing, 11 drumming sound! Scientists aren't sure why the mouse is a drummer; it just is!
(So the next time you're in the woods, walk quietly. There might be a white-footed mouse nearby,
12 and you wouldn't want to interrupt a mouse in the middle of its song . . . would you?
)
