enhancements for a more responsive, productive experience. New to Photoshop CC 2018 Applying file smart objects (approx. 160 mb) The new version of Adobe Photoshop CC includes native support for file smart objects, which are a new type of object that allows you to easily take advantage of native file format integration, including support for DNG RAW files, JPEG-RAW files, TIFF files, and more. Smart objects are a powerful new way to work with and preserve images. You can take advantage of Photoshop's support for the image file formats that the camera produces and make sure the original file is always intact when you edit, resize, and print your image. New features for DNG RAW files Adobe Photoshop CC now automatically saves DNG RAW files when saving for the first time. With DNG RAW, you have more control over your raw image quality and metadata than with other image formats. You can also apply the DNG RAW version to PSD files. The complete set of DNG RAW features, including exposure and color space management, is now available in Photoshop CC. More custom presets for DNG RAW files You can now use the same custom presets that you've used to save DNG files before in your other Adobe software. You can also bring presets from other DNG RAW-formatted files to Photoshop CC. Support for JPEG-RAW and TIFF files You can now open and edit JPEG-RAW and TIFF files. With JPEG-RAW, you can convert your camera JPEG files to DNG RAW format and use the new features in Photoshop to edit them. With TIFF, you can open and edit files in standard TIFF format and import files that are saved in TIFF format. New mobile apps: Adobe Photoshop Mix You can now mix high-quality PSD and JPEG images that you import from mobile devices to PSD, JPEG, or TIFF files in your Photoshop file library. New mobile apps: Adobe Photoshop on the web With Adobe Photoshop on the web, you can create, preview, and share web-ready artwork in Photoshop CC in your browser. More intelligence: New 520fdb1ae7
