Homecoming queen speech samples

Be the king or queen everyone votes for. So you're working on a return court and you're looking for a satisfactory king or queen speech that really gets the crowd moving to make sure you get a lot of votes. Throughout your speech never say your name, people won't know who they're voting for, and it gives you that mysterious look, kind of like Edward at dusk. Also, appearance is always key when people record you and take pictures, neither the king or queen wants to be washed they want to stand out! Make sure to pack on makeup and foundation great time. Remember, more is always better, you really want to go for this Snooki orange glow. Another thing is don't follow the crowd, people always talk about how they participate in their school life. Just tell people that you went to school for all four years and where you are able to put off for homework and sleep during class. That in itself deserves a round of applause. Caitlin Avery: What inspired you to run for the queen of homecoming? A: My sister inspired me to run because she was on trial on her way home and I wanted to follow in her footsteps. Also, I thought it would be an interesting experience to try it out. I mean, it's a senior year. The question is: How do you feel about competition? A: Honestly, I don't know many people on the Court, but I've heard wonderful things about them. I'll meet them when we wash. The question is: How have you campaigned so far? A: I didn't really agitate. If it were to happen, it would happen. I'm not going to put all these posters up and put them in other people's throats. It makes me feel really bad. Why should the student body vote for you? A: I really participate in a lot of things at school and I think it's going to be a really cool opportunity, but it's just a title. Janelle Lin W. Why do you want to be the queen of homecoming? A: I want to be the queen of HomeComing because my sister was a nominee in 2011 or 2012 and I want to win this for her. The question is: How do you feel about competition? A: It's a really good competition. I'm not really worried about anything because it's like if you win, you win, and if you lose, you lose. The question is: How do you campaign? A: I have friends who agitate for me via Twitter, Facebook and word of mouth. I don't want to campaign too much because people get annoyed. That's what it is. What happens during the parade? A: Every king and queen candidate put together, I think, in alphabetical order in convertibles. The question is: Why should we vote for you? A: I think people should vote for me because I want to represent all of Plano. I don't want it to be like I'm the queen. home because I'm popular. I want people to vote for me because of the genuine me, not because I'm popular. Angie Wong: What's your favorite thing about coming home? A: Dress up and take pictures. Q: Q: inspired you to run for homecoming? A: I thought it was a good opportunity. I only wanted to do it because. A: Do you do any extracurricular activities or hobbies? A: I like to play guitar and sing as well as dance what I do in Dancing for the Cause. The question is: How do you feel about being nominated? A: It was really interesting. There are many people who are well known. I didn't believe it when it happened. It was a surprise. The question is: Why do you want to be the queen of HomeComing? A: I want to be the queen of homecoming because last year I ran for the princess, but backed down because I didn't want to lose my friends from competing against them. I run because it is a good time to redeem myself, not for revenge, but for experience. I want to show people that you don't have to give up on your dreams and continue to pursue what your goal is, and not letting people throw insults at you. Take yourself back and move on. Maria Muhammad B: Did you go home last year? A: No, I didn't. The question is: How do you feel about being nominated for the Homecoming queen award? A: I feel very excited and well-deserved. The question is: What inspired you to run? A: It was kind of a surprise when I was nominated. I always thought it would be great to be a homecoming queen, but I never went for it until a week before the vote. I thought: Why not? And in the song Royals, there is a part that says: You can call me the queen of the bee. I thought it was cool, so if I win, I can say: You can call me the queen of the bee. It's just me. A: Well, I met this girl Caitlyn and I know she works and she's in a group and she has a very good support group. So I think it's going to be a tough competition. And the other three girls are my friends, so it's a friendly competition. The question is: Why do you think the student corps should vote for you? A: I'm very sweet and sweet, and I have a school spirit. I think it would be fun. I mean my spirit is there and my heart is in it. I feel like I fit these categories. I also feel like a homecoming queen should be a good role model and I believe I am the one. Brenda Wong: How do you feel about wednesday's bouncy rally, and how are homecoming kings and queens in pairs? A: I am very excited because I was riding in Beamer's parade with one on the King's candidates, Akash Kundu. I'm in Dancing for a Cause and we perform and it's really exciting. The question is: How have you campaigned so far? A: I pretty much just asked my friends if they wanted to vote for me homecoming queen, and many of them did. I am resolutely, and it's the senior year. Also to motivate my friends I offered cake balls. I was thinking about bringing a box of cookies to people next week during the vote. The question: What made you want to run for homecoming A: Last year I was going to run for the princess, but I decided not to do it, and this year the queen has more title. Also, I thought it would be great to have a homecoming queen who was the editor of the yearbook. The question is: Why should we vote for you? A: I think people should vote for me because I represent the yearbook and the DFC. Hunter Coleman B: Who appointed you to court on your return home? A: I would assume that the group nominated me. The question is: Are you happy to be nominated? Answer: Yes, I am very happy to represent Plano in a positive way on the court. The question is: What do you think are your chances of winning the Ar? A: I don't know who will win, but I think whatever happens in the contest, whoever it is, he will do it well. The question is: What is your favorite part about being a Plano Wildcat? A: Participation in the traditions that are in Plano. Being part of a group and participating in all football matches is a lot of fun. The question is: What are your plans for a homecoming night? A: I'm going with a group friends and we're going to go to dinner. We're going to go to the dance, and then we're going to go to my house and play ping pong. Akash Kundu s: What part of homecoming are you looking forward to the most? Answer: I look forward to dancing the most because I find it exciting. The question is: Why should people vote for you? A: People should vote for me because I will be a good king. I am determined and ready for this work. The question is: If you could change one thing about returning home, what would it be? A: I would like to change the location of the dance, because since it is a cafeteria, it is not a large space. The question is: What are your plans for a homecoming night? A: My plans are to go to dinner with my date and take pictures and then go to the dance. The question is: Do you campaign? A: Yes, we are running a massive campaign. We write on people's cars and we have to make T-shirts and cupcakes Evan Katz: Who appointed you to be on Homecoming Court? A: A group of my friends at lunch got their dinner table to nominate me and more people that they are friends in that lunch. The question is: How do you feel about your competitors? Do you think you have a good chance of winning? A: I have a lot of support from the group and from my friends in the classes and AP classes that my competitors don't in. I don't usually think of myself as very popular, but I think among my friends I'm relatively popular. The question is: What part of homecoming are you looking forward to the most? A: It's nice to have dinner with friends. The question is: If you could chance one thing about returning home, what would it be? A: It's always a pain to plan everything with your group. With my group, we spent so much time planning everything together. It's a lot of stress. The question is: What are your plans for a homecoming night? A: We are planning a meeting for photos in stores at Heritage and we are going Dine. Then we'll probably go to dance dances someone's house, just a hangout afterwards. Joseph Carroll IN: What's your favorite part of coming home? A: Probably just a dance and an opportunity to see everyone. The question is: Did you write a speech in case you won? A: Not yet, I plan to write one soon. The question is: Do you campaign? A: Just a little bit of stuff. I'm posting some stuff on Facebook. I know StuCo wanted to do a dunk booth and I told them I'd do it. The question is: What are your plans to return home? A: Just go to dinner, then dance and party afterwards. Austin Beaver: Who appointed you to the homecoming court? A: Ever since I asked for a homecoming date, a few of my friends thought I was going to be a good candidate. Taylor Chambers and Sarah Rasor tweeted that I'm homecoming king. The question is: How do you feel about your competitors? Do you think you have a good chance of winning? A: I think the group has a big impact on who wins, and since there are four groups of guys this year, the group will be divided. So I think everyone has a good chance of winning. The question is: What is your favorite part about being a Plano Wildcat? A: I love everything about being a Plano Wildcat. Tradition is unparalleled. We have so many things that Plano Senior High has been going on for so long. I love the atmosphere and school pride. The question is: What are your plans for a night homecoming? A: We go to the dance and to a restaurant called Brio. Then we'll either go to the Infinite Borders for the night or to a friend's house to take the night. Night.
