If you plan on investing over the next five years, you might want to take a second to read this email.

Dear ##firstname##,

I don't know if you saw our note from earlier, but if you're a long-term investor, we have some great news for you.

Our analysts have discovered three stocks that they believe have truly market crushing potential for patient investors.

You must understand that these stocks are not for investors who need or want immediate results today. No, these stocks are for investors who understand the sheer money-making potential that the long game holds.

For example,

When we looked at the investment performance of holding 25 stocks over a five-year period, we found that our stocks not only outperformed the markets but possibly made many Foolish investors a fortune.

You see, the average rate of return for a portfolio that held 25 stocks for 5 years was 89.65%.

Meaning a $500,000 portfolio, for example, would have grown to $948,245.39.

And that was just the average.

The best-case scenario would have resulted in a $2,876,899.80 return after 5 years! Over $2 million.

And here's the thing...

The historical data collected to compile this data was over a 19-year period (From March 2001 to November 2021).

For context, that covers the tail end of the dot com era, the catastrophe that was the Great Recession, and even through the most recent Pandemic.

Now, compare that to holding this same portfolio for just a year. The return was a measly 17.14%.

Which is why if you're an investor with a long game mindset, you'll love these three stocks included in an exclusive report called Our Top 3 Stocks for Long-Game Investors.

You see, when we looked at the historical data, the long-game approach to investing outperforms on average. And not only does it outperform, but it has the potential to make savvy investors a mint.

And as growth investors, that's exactly what we're looking for...right?

An opportunity to invest in great companies now, that have the potential to make a mint later.
