An HD DVD player can read some of the features found on a PS2 DVD, but many Windows DVD players are incapable of playing the whole PS2 format. It is possible to play some PS2 discs by using a third party software, but it is not yet possible to play all PS2 discs (and that's why it was necessary to come up with Blu-ray). However, in the Windows world,

Blu-ray is now beginning to replace HD DVD. As such, most Blu-ray players are backward compatible to HD DVD. It is possible that a Blu-ray player can play some PS2 discs, but if it cannot play your disc then I don't know why you need to have it.

A catalytic asymmetric synthesis of enantiomerically enriched 3-acetoxy-3-methyl-cyclopentanes. A highly enantioselective intermolecular allylation of 3-benzoyloxy-3-methylcyclopentane with allyltrimethylsilane and In(OTf)₃ has been achieved. The resulting allylated cyclopentane product can be converted to the corresponding 3-acetoxy-3-methylcyclopentane in good yields, using acidic conditions. The latter has been oxidized to the corresponding 3-acetoxy-3-methylcyclopent-1-en-1-ol, which upon treatment with sodium methoxide gives the enantiomerically enriched 3-acetoxy-3-methyl-cyclopentane./* * Copyright (c) 2009-2018 Weasis Team and other contributors. * * This program and the accompanying materials are made available under the terms of the Eclipse * Public License 2.0 which is available at * SPDX-License-Identifier: EPL-2.0 */ 520fdb1ae7
