May is the month to prepare your house and garden for the dog days in summer. Start at the top - in the attic - with a stop in the kitchen before addressing the courtyard and your outdoor living areas.1. PREPARE TO BEAT THE HEAT While it was cold and rainy for most of the country, you can be sure that hot weather is just around the corner. This means the familiar hum of the air conditioners and the unwelcome increase in energy bills. As you prepare for the coming months, think about what you can do to maintain a pleasant indoor temperature without breaking the bank. Attic insulation. Just like during the heating period, insulation and ventilation in the attic of your HVAC system in summer, when the air conditioning is in use, do not help the furnace to work efficiently. If you don't have one yet, consider installing an attic fan to soak up overheated air, reducing the significant load on your cooler. All-house fans. If you operate your air conditioner mainly overnight, a full-house fan can probably save you a significant amount of the change. How does it work? By drawing through open windows on the lower floors in cool night air and cycling it through the house. A professional can help you determine whether it's the right solution for you, but in general, full-house fans work best in low humidity regions where the temperature drops by at least five degrees after sunset. Related: 10 Really cool cooling fans ceiling fans. As they cool down due to circulating air, ceiling fans should be installed in the rooms where you spend most of your time (e.B. kitchen, family room or bedroom). They cost to operate pennies; even with them occasionally instead of the AC will make a positive difference in your utility bill. Window air conditioners. Before you pull your window air conditioner out of the warehouse, ask yourself how old it is. Efficiency has improved so much that buying a new energy smart unit can actually be cheaper than relying on your old clunker for another summer. Regardless of its age, be sure to maintain your alternating current by cleaning or replacing its filter. And for security reasons, make sure the installation is safe and does not give in! awnings and solar blinds. Awnings are ideal for reducing heat gain by protecting windows from direct sunlight. Many solid or retractable options are available in materials from canvas to aluminum. Also consider solar blinds and solar screens, from which can be found either in interior or exterior styles. Both work to absorb heat and block sun rays without obstructing the view outside.2. UPDATE YOUR KITCHEN Your kitchen rejuvenation doesn't have to be a total belly work. If you are looking for a way to change color and pattern why not re-tile the backsplash? It's a simple project that you can tackle over a long weekend, even if you're not an experienced craftsman. Do you want to go one step further? Face your cupboards again. A new wood veneer or a bright coat of cabinet doors and drawer fronts can really transform and make your old kitchen look so brand new. The best part is that the price is right.3. IMPROVE YOUR FARM YARD GARDEN This month is the perfect time to improve your landscaping. Try a distinctive edges that define your garden walkway or the planting of beds. Another idea: Use containers to bring flowers and greenery to the front porch or backyard deck or terrace. Want to have a bit of fun? Experiment with creating your own pots from everyday household materials; see 10 Inspired DIY Planter.4. RID YOURSELF OF SUMMER PESTS While there are numerous ways to deal with bees, wasps, mice and animals, the best approach to pest control is natural. Did you know that mice find the smell of peppermint unbearable, or that cockroaches can't tolerate Tabasco sauce? For bed bugs, the answer is a treatment of diatomaceous earth! For details and other tips, see the Complete Natural Guide to Apartment Pest Control and Prevention.5. READY THE DECK, PATIO & GRILL As this is the month, many of us will begin to spend more time in the backyard, sweep your outdoor living space cleanly and make all the necessary repairs to deck or terrace areas. If your gas grill has been idle for several months, check the burner nozzles for obstacles and tightly secure all hose connections. (And don't forget to refill the propane gas tank!) Meanwhile, charcoal grill owners are smart to clean ash and fat residues - a good habit to keep up with the season. Read much more in How To: Care for Your Grill - and bon appetit! Appetite!
