Ten Thousand Waves Spa SunTree Travel Club: SunTree naturists live throughout New Mexico, Texas, Arizona and other parts of the Southwest. They gather at members' homes for outings, potlucks, swimming and hot baths, games, and conversations, but also travel to public lands and rented facilities like ski shelters. The main goal of the club is group consistency, so would-be SunTree members are encouraged to attend three meetings to make sure they are a good measure before joining. Both married people and single people from all social class are welcome. Roadrunner Naturists: This close-knit group of nudists is based in northern New Mexico, and most of their events take place in the Albuquerque area. Although composed of all ages, the average member is between 40 and 60. Roadrunner Naturists love the outdoors, celebrate the human body, and go naked whenever possible and appropriate, dressed when practical. They love swimming, soaking in hot tubs and hot springs, camping, and being together for parties, from group potlucks to vacation meetings. Faywood Hotsprings Resort: Nicknamed a desert oasis, Faywood offers clothing-optional bathing areas throughout its natural geothermal resort. Located in southwest New Mexico, the property is home to several public and private dive pools known for their mineral waters. If you're looking to stay overnight, the resort offers cabanas, as well as required clothing and clothing-optional campervans and tents campsites. Ten Thousand Waves Spa: Modeled after Japanese spa resorts, this pretty Santa Fe spa has optional private hot tubs and two common pools: the Grand Tub and the Women's Communal Tub. While the Women's Communal Tub is clothing-optional, the Grand Tub requires guests to wear swim pants. (You can rent a swimsuit at reception.) Located just 10 minutes from downtown Santa Fe, Ten Thousand Waves also features a Japanese restaurant and a full menu of massages and shiatsu treatments. Ojo Spa Resorts: Both Ojo Spa, Ojo Caliente, and Sunrise Springs properties offer au naturel bathing in one of their private mineral-infused outdoor pools and soaking tubs. Reservations are required and they must wear a bathrobe and flip flops to and from the pools. Overnight visitors can book simple and affordable accommodation in Ojo, or indulge in an all-inclusive Sunrise Springs package with gourmet meals and a wide range of activities for guests, guests, from yoga and meditation to horticulture, to cooking and art classes. Riverbend Hot Springs: Located in Truth or Consequences, New Mexico, this mineral retreat and spa resort offers overnight stays, but you can also book private pools for part of the day. Clothing-optional pools have privacy walls only on three sides to allow for spectacular open views of the river and mountains beyond. Though deluxe pools can fit four or six people, Riverbend has been designed as more than a couples retreat and doesn't allow young children. All private pools have cold showers, foggers, ceiling fans, river side tents, and lounge chairs to relax. Mi Casa Bed and Breakfast: Presented as New Mexico's only nudist accommodation, this modest two-bedroom bed and breakfast in the heart of Albuquerque is an optional cozy and intimate clothing retreat. The private courtyard is a great place to relax in the sun, dive skinny into the pool, or take a bath in the hot tub. The owner will make you feel very comfortable, and the rates are quite reasonable. Thank you for let us know!
