An Epic Fundraising Cycling Challenge

On 27th May I am joining Anne Jones, aged 84 as she completes the last of the three iconic Tour de France climbs - the most famous of them all Alpe d'Huez. Alpe d'Huez is 1,850m high, there are 21 hairpin bends that go on for 14 km. Anne cycled up Mont Ventoux, (1,900 metres) in May 2024 and the mighty Tourmalet (2,115 metres) in June 25, because she was so horrified by the fate of children in Gaza. She has so far raised £50,000 for our (Amos Trust's) partners in Gaza. So not only will I join her, but the next day I am taking on the Marmotte - 5,000m of climbing, 4 Cols and 170 km. It's by far the hardest cycle challenge I have ever done. But if Anne can do Alpe d'Huez at 84, it seemed a good way to turn 60 and to build hope for children in Gaza. So please do sponsor me if you can- Chris Rose
