How to use your personal retainer support package
The packages are designed to give you that personal, one-to-one support, tailored flexibly around your needs - use the hours in any combination as coaching, consultancy and facilitation. You can use the hours for anything from a quick phone call to a full project reports. I can be a sounding board, a challenger, an idea generator, observer and advisor, investigator, reporter, and take on the awkward conversations you know you need to have. Each package is personal to one person, although you can ask me to interact with as many other people as you like. If I can't meet your needs personally, I have a network of trusted associates who will be able to. If you require a team support package, please enquire directly to info@clearasabell.uk Hours can be rolled over to the following month, once, or you can switch to a different package, up or down, at the end of any month, if you find yourself with a different number of hours to cover what you need regularly. For peak times there is a discount to 'Any other services', which is worked out at a fixed charge per project. Clear as a Bell will keep a strict record of hours, shared with you. The minimum increment is 10 minutes. The package first month starts straight away from midnight on the contract date, with subsequent months starting on the same calendar date of the following month. Packages finish on the calendar date at 11.59 the day before the calendar following month start date. Packages are designed to be personal and cannot be cumulated or transferred to another person. If you pay monthly, failure to pay will result in suspension of services until Your contract is with Clear as a Bell, represented by Clare Bamberger, who delivers the bulk of the work. On occasion it may be that, after a consultation with you, Clear as a Bell will engage a different person, among our carefully selected associates, to better meet your needs at the time. The hours cannot be used for training courses, which are treated separately. The normal contract Terms and Conditions and Privacy Policy of Clear as a Bell apply.
