Going merry one piece

The reconstruction of Go Merry in the 2003 performance of La Going Merry (Eiichirō Ode) is the first crew ship with a straw hat in manga One Piece, written and illustrated by Eiichirō Oda, and in its performed works. Description Flying Joy is triangular sailing karavel. Its log has a similar shape to the head of the goat, and below that are the positions for the top and the pinch. Another cannon is placed on the back and the rudder finds a seat between the two sails. The interior of the ship contains a cabin, a boardroom and a bathroom, and on the deck there is a small garden where Nami planted mandarin trees. Story Farewell to Joy The ship was built by Merry on Kay's commission, and she gave the crew a thank you for helping to defeat kuronet pirates. The process in history has been modified to meet different needs. Especially before the flight to Skypieo, the ship makes difficult changes so that the crew can reach the island in the sky: in fact, two wings are added, as well as a chicken tail and a chicken coat of arms on the log. These changes are then taken by Klabautermann (), a ghost who embodies ships that are much loved upon return to the blue sea. It's also correcting it, allowing Luffy's group to get to Seven Water, which would otherwise be impossible. Galley-La's joiners arriving in the water metropolis confirm that the ship has arrived at the last port and that it is no longer possible to repair it due to the serious situation in which it is located. The decision to leave the ship is the cause of the furious altercation between Ape D. Luffy and Usop. Despite the catastrophic conditions, after the Adventure of Enies Lobby, in the middle of Buster Calla, Going Merry again. Once again, With the help of Iceburg, the mayor of Water Seven and a skilful carpenter, Klabautermann corrected himself to face the last of the way. After the crew was rescued, the ship was burned down by a Viking funeral. His place was taken over by Thousand Sunny, made by Franky along with other joiners of Water Seven. In recent years a replica of Going Merry has been created, but it cannot be moved because it is not built for this purpose, used between exhibitions and performances sponsored by Shueisha, Toei Animation and Fuji TV in Odaibi, Tokyo. Besides the commander, we have Sanji, Zoro, Chopper, Nico Robin and the wonderful Nami, then usopp again... What happened to Brook and Franky? Meanwhile, one piece of manga unfortunately took a two-week statute of limitations, due to the health of Eiichiro Oda (nothing serious, however). We're going to have to wait a while before we can enjoy the next appointment. This article is a draft! Going Merry is still incomplete or disorganized, help us improve it! Straw Hat Pirates For Kaya's Butler, see Merry La Going Merry was the first straw hat pirate ship. Appearance[edit code | source change] This was a triangular sail karavel. According to Kaku, it was an old model that was uncomfortable sailing on the Major Route for a long time, whether it was damaged or not. [2] It was equipped with:[3] a cabin for girls located on the stern. There are two hanging ropes hanging on the ceiling. The room was very pricey, as it was originally designed by Merry for Kaya; a children's cabin located in a bow; log, with an ingular shape, a position preferred by Luffy; the main tree on top of which the Jolly Roger crew was waving, a skull with a straw hat designed by Usop; casing for anchor top and winch, located under the log. There were also two large rowings, life jackets and weapons; a warehouse with two tones, one on each side of the ship; bathroom with bath and shower. Water for use of these two was collected directly from the must and then filtered three times before heating; the room, kitchen, rudder behind which there is a fourth cannon; Three tangerines of the tree that Nami took from Bellmer's camp before he left Coco's village for good. The boys' cabin and the girls' cabin were connected to the emergency exit. To access the first, there was a trap on the bridge through the bridge door, and traps were used to access the second, equipped with a key located in the warehouse. Two machines were used to suck the water needed for the bath and shower. They were located under a bridge ladder, but one was broken by Luffy shortly after leaving Shirop. In addition to sucking the water, cycling on them also produced electricity. [3] Gallery[edit code | edit code] Luffy's favorite place and Tree history Nami[edit code | edit code] Passed[edit code | edit source] Cheerfully when drawing the ship. 20 years before the narrative began, Merry formed cheerfully. The ship was later built. Shirop saga[edit code | modification source] Merry donates the ship Straw Hat Pirates to thank them for defeating Kuroneko Pirates. Luffy's crew took off. Baratie saga[edit code | source edit] Usop and Luffy, rehearsing with a cannon, hit the rock. Soon after, Johnny boards the ship to get back at the crew for hitting his friend Yosaku. Explained the misunderstanding, Nami cures the latter from scurvy. When Luffy's looking for a chef, Johnny directs the crew to Baratia. A navy woman is intercepted by a navy woman near the restaurant, who fires a shot from the cannon, but Luffy ree.a.' When The Nami stays on the ship with Johnny and Yosaku, the latter throws into the sea with deception and takes over the ship to get to the Konom archipelago. Arlong Park saga[edit code | change of source] After Arlong's defeat, The Nami asks Teru to build a bar in a girls' cabin. [3] The next day, the crew sails from Coco. Rogue Town saga[edit code | change of source] The ship sails from Rogue Town after the crew is misplaced. The laurel saga[modification | modification of the source] However, the storm pushes it into the belt of calmness, where it is lifted by the Sea King, which appears beneath the boat. When the animal snee-snees, it gleefully collapses and falls, so it returns to the sea and the crew paddles until it returns to the storm. While Usop and Sanji try to hold the rudder straight, it breaks due to the force of the flow, while the ship is at the beginning of the Reversing Mountain. If it goes merry, then it risks colliding with one of the portals there, but Luffy swells it to the jump. Upon arrival at the top, the ship descends and Luffy fires a cannon to slow it down after seeing a huge whale in front of them. The boy succeeds in his ingad, but the log breaks and crashes into the animal that swallows the entire ship. Luffy later breaks the main tree so he can use it as a weapon for the laurel. Usop then corrects the latter and log with a few metal pieces. Later the ship sailed from Futag with Mr. Nine and Miss Wednesday also on board, which required a ride to Whisky Peak. Whisky Peak saga[edit | change of source] During the journey, the weather suddenly changes and the leak opens, which Usop corrects while the main sail begins to tear. Soon after, another hole opens up in the hold, which the sniper always deals with. When the ship arrived near Whisky, Mr. Nine and Miss Wednesday at sea. GoinG cheers then goes down the river and the crew flies in later. Drum saga[edit code | original modification] Wapol sings, which goes cheerfully. Wapol boards the ship and eats the part. She's happy to go to Drum later. The Alabama saga [edits the original change] The ship moves Mr. Two to ensure that the Navy doesn't find it easily. Nico Robin sning into The Merry, and soon after, the ship becomes the target of Hina's battle tones. When the crew returns aboard, they make their way to the eastern port to allow the crew to greet Bibi and continue the journey. Jaya saga[edit code | source change] Going Merry arrives in Jayo, where Bellamy injures her bow. Skypiea saga[edit code | edit code] Going Merry is under attack. The ship reaches the White Sea, where wiper is attacking it. The Ship Klabautermann appears overnight to repair the vessel. The Davy Back Fight saga[edit | source modification] The ship remains in the Long Ring Long Land for four days to recover from the freeze. Enies Lobby saga[edit code | change of source] Ship's Klabautermann manages to get in touch with Iceberg, who asks to sail one last time. I'm going to go happy, then he gets to Enies Lobby, where he rescues the crew and Franky so the Navy doesn't catch them. Saga by Enies Lobby[edit code | change source] The ship is on fire. The ship's bow broke on its way to the water on May 7. Luffy thanks her for taking them to this point and then burning them. Differences between mango and anime[edit code | source edit] Warship saga[edit code | edit code] Crew spot the little girl at sea and take her to Jolly. The little girl says her name is Apis and asks you to take her to her home island, Warship; the pirates then consent. During navigation they are intercepted by some Navy ships, but strong winds push Going Merry into a group of calm and shortly after some royals appear at sea from the water; The ship thus ends up on the nose of one of them. Apis then rips the hair out of the animal's nose to sing. When that happens, they send the ship back to the East Sea and later reach the warship. When the crew decides to help Apis return Ryu to the lost island, Dawn and Usop board Merry to move it to shore at the foot of the mountain, but they are being hunted by a naval ship. Soon after, the remaining crew descends on the mountain on to the raft, on which Ryu is also located, breaking the navy ship's main tree, then swam in cheers. When Ryu finds some memory, tell Apis, Pirates change direction until they reach the surface, reflecting the image of joy, which they then cross. After overcoming the storm, they arrive on an uninhabited island. Aware that the lost island is actually Warship, the crew continues to navigate, but the exit from the delusion zone is found being traced by some naval ships. Merry is surrounded by ships connected to each other by chains. After the defeat of the Navy and the death of the dragon, this section must hit the tidal wave that brings the dragon's nest back to the surface. The crew then escorts Apis back to the warship and then continues with the sea on its way to The Reverse. Before, Eric was hiding undercover, but as soon as he showed himself to the crew, Nami throws him overboard. The Saga of Alabama[edit code | changing the source] Going Merry reaches the island and the crew begins exploring that stock. Luffy then takes to the hook and on board the ISSA, a giant snail shell from which rice comes from, which once understood who is in front, drifts away. After hours of sailing, the ship is in danger of ending up in a cyclone. However, the crew manages to change course in time. Later, through thick fog, the ship encounters a Navy fleet. A child falls from one of these ships, which Robin rescues and brings to the ship. Later, after returning him to his ship, Sanji and Luffy return to Veselo, who continues his journey. After days of sailing, the ship reaches fireworks. The Goat Island saga [edit code | change of source] The ship is being pursued by the Naval Fleet. Soon then he crosses a section of the must, full of rocks, dangerous currents and dense fog. We can get her to safety and get to the island. When Moore allowed the pirates to choose the crash site, the crew climbed the ship and reached a place full of rocks and previously crossed fog, where he manages to sow navy ships. The rainbow-coloured misty saga [edit | change of source] Going Merry is haunted by some naval ships, but one of them sinks, while the others stop the pursuit to help. He's coming to Ruruka later. Later, it is used by Luffy, Zoro, Robin and Usop to reach the tarierishin and after Henzo embarks, it moves into a rainbow-coloured fog and reaches the monkey concerto. After the turn in the circle, the ship joins Nami. Later Rapanui Pasqua, who was helped by his friends, blows up the naval ship they used as their base, so the shock wave pushes Joy into the right dimension. The crew then sails off the island. [edit | edit code] Merry returns to the blue sea in the inner bay of the G-8 base. The Marines are up and in. The crew then manages to board and escape. But the Navy is opening fire while navigating the inner bay. The latter discovers that the latter has seized cannonballs, firepowder and treasure extracted from Skypie. So Merry turns around, evade enemy ships in the fog and arrives at one of the abandoned flaming. Pirates are building a coating that conceals the ship, making it look like one of the Navy's. After recovering what was stolen, the crew returns to Veselo and chases Pine Peak on board to find a way out and oversu charges him, so the crew throws the pajay used to conceal the joy against him. At the moment, however, pirates notice that naval ships are lowering their sails. We are aware that Navarone is surrounded by stones that appear at low tide. The ship reports damage to the grain before it gets to the ground. At this point, the crew rejects Jonathan's proposal to surrender, while spared those who did not have coal. The group then uses the Blast Call to the octopus balloon: the first blow pulls the ship out of a low-tide area that is held in the air due to the animal, the second allows it to drive out to sea and continue navigating. Memory Thief Island saga[edit code | change of source] Overnight, a boy climbs up on a ship going Merry and steals the memories of crew members sleeping thanks to their sea horse. The next day, Nami and Zoro left the ship to reach a nearby island. The next night, the boy returns to the ship to steal more memories, but Luffy attacks him and forces him to escape. At dawn, all the crew members landed on the island to search for a memory thief to force him to return his memory. When they find her, they board the ship and continue to navigate. During the storm, foxy's return saga[edits | source modification] During the storm, the crew on board spotted the boat with Foxy, Hamburg and Pollux, so Luffy took them to safety and allowed him to stay on the Merry ship. The next day, Hamburg spotted a sexy fox, so the crew boarded it with its own ship. Later Straw Hat Pirates reach the island gleefully, on which they disembark in order to stock themselves. Curiosity[edit | change source] Ship replication. A real replica of the ship has been built, although it is not fully functional. It is used for exhibitions and performances sponsored by Shueisha, Toei Animation and Fuji TV in Odaiba. Construction of the ship was completed on 22 January. [1] Notes [Edit | Edit Source] Source]
