I have a button with that data-hide and is meant to show only the previously hidden content, so I want it to add the data-hide to the button as well when I click it, and then when the button is clicked again, remove the data-hide from the button. I have a demo here that is an attempt at explaining what I'm trying to accomplish: HTML: Toggle This content should be hidden when the button is clicked, but it should only be hidden once. This content should be hidden when the button is clicked, and so should be the content that previously had data-hide applied to it. JS: jQuery 520fdb1ae7
