FYI, PerfectWorld made a great forum migration that destroyed the vast majority of links in this directory, and none of them will redirect. I don't have time available to hunt for every link myself and redo them all. I also don't like to leave misinformation up so I'm going to go through this directory and remove builds with invalid links. If someone wants a build (or build) added or read contact me. Just a heads up before people wonder why the catalog atrunk--Kenpo Over at STO, Tenny and Tacofang said that, in time, forum links would redirect. Not sure if that means links to a particular number post will work, but eventually a whole thread would be found on Vanilla. It was also mentioned that they were working on a way to make it happen faster, so that search engines can find the old links in the new place easier. Not sure if that means links to a particular number post will work, but eventually a whole thread would be found on Vanilla. It was also mentioned that they were working on a way to make it happen faster, so that search engines can find the old links in the new place easier. Well that will be good news. I still have a backup of the directory from before I truncated it to remove the many dead links, so if they can fix redirection, I can restore the builds. Builds.
