One of the episodes was this one from below: Yes, it wasn't quite what the guys were expecting, but yes, there are more than 100 names for the public that can already direct and drink alcohol, that is, those who have been indicative of the classification for more than 18 years. However, while you may already be thinking nonsense, most of them have nothing to do with erotic names, but rather with drugs, wars, racism and other issues that should be treated with caution. But you see, I said the most. Among the more than 18 names are, for example, the famous Nymphomaniac Vol I and Vol II, but its inscription was not enough to be added to the list. Check out Netflix's top 10 adult titles from now on according to IMDB. Series such as Bates Motel, Lost, Orange is the New Black, among others, although classified as +18, were not included in the list, otherwise it would become the list of best series that is already ready for this link. P.S. 2 Don't judge me for what is considered appropriate or not for people over 18 years of age. It is not me who decides this and as you will see in the text below, the classification criteria are not easy to understand. 10 – Californication (IMDB Note: 8.3) The story tells the rather unruly life of a Hank Moody writer who is famous for great success but has since failed to placate anything else. In parallel to this search for inspiration, the series shows the relationship with his daughter (the most conscious person in the series), the love for his ex-wife (or current, look, depends on the moment) and the deviations he faces in the middle of the road with the knee, lots of drinks, lots of medication, some struggle, enough sex, etc. The series has made huge success in the US and to this day is one of the greatest showtime network achievements (the same as Dexter and Homeland , for example). Who is tired of the series manjadas and wants to see something differential, this is the name. I think it's the hardest name on this list, so go deeper. Attention, NSFW trailer below (at least it is subtitled). 9 - Inglorio usbastards (IMDB note: 8.3) First but not the only, Tarantino film on this list returns to the second world war, when a team of elite Americans decided to join one simple mission: to kill the Nazis. You see, they don't want to take hostages, arrest, let alone the judge, but kill. So you already know what to expect from the movie, especially when it comes to the movie directed by Tarantino: Violent deaths, explosions, fire and everything else we have right. And what is a great place to end the high echelon of Nazism than a movie shoot where everyone will present and even Hitler, according to some surviving official sources? Now just come up with a plan and blow it up. 8 - Once Upon a Time in America (IMDB Note: 8.4) Directed by Sergio Leone, considered by many the greatest Italian director of all time, this film about a gangster empire makes the Godfather look like a joke. The formula is the same as always: young Italian immigrants are coming for nothing in America, and crime is becoming the only way forward. Enough violence, beating and shooting to get as close as possible to this episode that caricato out of real history. 7 - Old Boy (IMDB Note: 8.4) He ran for 15 years, not even knowing why. So he was released from one hour to the next. Now he has five days to find answers and punish anyone who is guilty of his last decade and a half torture. And revenge will not be smooth. So much so that was classified in the elderly. Torture is violent, deaths are cruel, and psychological torture happens all the time. In addition, there is drug use, sex, etc. The film is considered one of the best works of South Korean and Asian cinema. It was based on Japanese manga of the same name. Ahh, and the theme song Sweet Dreams long before she became a little girl. Be careful just don't watch the 2013 Hollywood remake, in which they once again ruined the original. 6 - American Beauty (IMDB Note: 8.4) One of the best films ever made my humble and humble views. What would you do if you were in your 40s completely frustrated with life? With a daughter who didn't give him a ball, a wife who ignored him, a job he couldn't take anymore, crazy neighbors and still needs to deal with the sudden crush on a teenage friend of his daughter? In Leicester's case, he decides to blackmail his boss, resign, get a new job in the fast food chain, start using marijuana, change cars, and ignore a woman's betrayal. While the two-part description above has a soundtrack and doesn't seem to describe the movie over 18s, the narrative is compelling and the ending is shocking, so you rethink your life if you're going through an existential crisis and thinking that you live life and pay slips. 5 - Psycho (IMDB Note: 8.5) A psychopath already knows that the film, which is perhaps the most iconic scene of all cinema time: the girl is there in the shower, soon falls into the small song TCHAN TCHAN TCHAN THCAN DAN DAN DAN AND comes silhouette wielding a knife, ready to end her life. The story tells how Secretary Marion - frustrated with her life - decides to keep $40,000 delivered to her boss, who had to make it to the bank. Seeing the opportunity to start a new life she leaves toward her love for a long journey. Tired, decides to rest in the middle of the night to rest at night, but ends up choosing the famous Bates Motel to spend the night. The place is run by Norman, a young man who seems to be dominated by his mother. In addition to being considered one of Hitchcock's masterpieces and one of the best films ever made, Psychois is responsible for American cinema to a new level of sexuality, violence and psychotic behavior. For this reason it has been classified as more than 18 years (take into account movies that were made in the 60s and the limitations of violence and sensuality), the same level of others on this list that, as you know, are much heavier. 4 - City of God (IMDB Note: 8.7) Who knew we had a national movie on this list? Well, the 4th position is a great city of God, Masterpiece. The film tells the real story of Buscapé, a black boy, a resident of the city community of Rio de Janeiro who, through his talent as a photographer, ends up escaping from the future of marginality, but not without experiencing and photographing stories of war, drugs, sex and revenge. The scenario is the formation of the city of God, one of the most dangerous favelai in Rio de Janeiro, with all its problems and parallel power, which commands everything with a strong pulse. There were four Oscar nominations, but unfortunately there was no win. 3 - Archer (IMDB Note: 8.7) It's good that South Park is the best adult drawing ever, but as it can only be found in Hulu, the best foul-mouthed animation we have access to Netflix is Archer. Archer is a secret agent who considers himself the best in the world and works for ISIS. Topics such as terrorism, murder and drug and arms trafficking are in the daily lives of Archer and his team. The series is ideal for doing nothing that day, and you want to pass the time. There are 8 seasons, each with 8 episodes in about 20 minutes. 2 - Fight Club (IMDB Note: 8.8) Based on the book's even more brutal and violent, Fight Club deals with a guy who lives with insomnia paranoia and has a beating as his only way out with strangers. He tried everything: self-help groups for people with brain cancer, medicine, etc., but nothing works except those minutes of struggle, without losing friendship. Shots, lots of punches, stab wounds, a development plan at all routine and turn liposuction fat into soap and then sell there are some things that put it as specified for more than 18 years. The book/film does not end after reading/watching. Many theories circulate online about the true meaning of tyler Durden, Marla Singer and Mayhen's project. If you haven't seen it, it's time. Get there. 1 - Pulp Fiction - Time for Violence (IMDB Note: 8.9) Among the titles of over 18s, based on the attention of IMDB, the champion was with Quentin Tarantino and his 1994 classic Pulp Fiction. Consider as the best director made before he entered the mainstream, the story that made the film to be classified as more than 18 years old in Brazil tells of 2 hired assassins who go to work as a gangster. Worse still, one of these killers ends up getting too close to the boss's wife and may have serious problems for him. Running outside is a parallel story for a boxer who had to lose the fight but ended up winning. And the price to be paid for this mistake can be too expensive. Deaths, shots, profanity, beheadings, among other essentials, good films called violence is in the film. In addition, the film has its importance in promoting cinema as a nonlinear narrative or black humor that Tarantino puts out in some scenes that may no longer be appropriate for the 2017 film. The independent film, which cost just 8 million earned more than 200 at the box office, sanctified actors and actresses in an early career, saved those famous who got into ostracism and nailed one of the most vibrant and visceral films of all time. Bonus: Another American Story (IMDB Note: 8.5) The indicative rating of films is a bit controversial indeed. Although this film has been associated with neo-Nazi groups and is a fake on topics such as xenophobia, homophobia, violence, gangs, racism, violence, drugs, etc. it has been classified as 14 years old. You will understand, but that's why you're not on the list. I'm still going to recommend it. The script tells the story of Derek Vinyard, the group leader that hunts Latinos, blacks, Asians, and everyone else who was different by accusing them of stealing their work and taking down their city. So it's no surprise that he was soon arrested for murder. In prison, he begins to live with a black man, where he begins to rethink his old beliefs. When he gets out of prison he has another idea, unlike what he believed before, but his brother, who from an early age was exposed to hatred against minorities, may not have the same chance of changing beliefs until it was too late. The story is cruel, strong, visceral and a real blow to the face. It deserves to be seen, especially in the hateful days we live in today. So which one have you ever watched? Who missed the list? Leave it in the notes below. Below.
