It's quite common for anyone to click and search for Jeet Kune Do in an attempt to solve the mystery. Wikipedia calls Jit Kun Do a hybrid of martial arts. Historically, I think it might be true. But the information is ambiguous. Styling principles that don't go together and using buzzwords like, direct, non-classical, direct lead and being like water don't have the weight in providing a unique driving force in applying tools. This information doesn't explain how JKD works! Let me be clear. Since the conception of Jit Kun Do, part of his philosophy has taken different routes and manifested itself in the likeness of each instructor. Some claim that there is a base you should follow and then you will discover your own JKD. While others seem to lose translation and either crystallize the original content or say JKD is just a philosophy. The question remains open. How does Bruce Lee pull off amazing skills!? According to eyewitnesses, Lee was able to close up against student Steve Golden, trying to defend himself from several blows with his hand. Before Steve knew this, he was completely immobilized! Without looking at exactly the kind of martial art Lee used against Steve, a few things happened at the right time! There is no doubt Lee had to start somewhere. The martial art in which he trained increased his ability to close on Steve in an instant. But it was more than a set of martial arts techniques or speed! Lee was just a master of 3 simple components. Mind, body and fight strategy! This is just the tip of the iceberg! Fortunately, with my experience and training with some of the best teachers in the world, Art JKD Online is the only infrastructure to hit your aspiring JKD targets! The art of JKD ONLINE is an interception method. There are two stages of learning that will contain the following: David Wong is a leader in the innovation of meditation technology.
