Disney/ABC TV/Flickr Creative Commons It's kind of impossible not to like Chrissy Teigen. Whether she's making us lol with a funny Halloween costume or sharing her love for Doritos Locos Tacos, she's a goddess in and out of the kitchen. Now that she and hubby John Legend are expecting their first child, Teigen has opened up about some of her pregnancy cravings and they are as tasty as you'd expect. Yesterday she unveiled a fried meal flight by her co-hosts at FABLife, starting with a classic roasted marinade served with buttermilk dill ranch sauce. Chef Nigella Lawson was nearby to give some tips on frying, like adding light beer or soda water to the dough to keep things beautiful and crispy. FABLife Next were zucchini fries, accompanied by spicy mayo chipotle. Teigen says she uses a panko mix, ordinary bread crumbs, and grated Parmesan cheese to get these kids nice and crispy in the oven. Yes they're baked, so this faux-roasted treat will satisfy your cravings without guilt. This content is imported from Instagram. The final bite was fried peanut butter and a jelly circle, served with jalapeno-infused honey sauce. She used Frozen Flakes for breading, an ingredient that she thinks is very underrated in the food world. And based on one of her other pregnancy cravings, I think Chrissy Teigen is a connoisseur of cereal masquerading as a supermodel. It suggests sucking frozen flakes into melted butter, spraying them with salt and then using them as ice cream fillings. If eating cereal for dessert is wrong, I don't want to be right. The Daily Roundup is on the home page of Cravings, and it has a mix of recipes, guides, and the more you can get a little bit of everything every day. 2 Chrissy's mom has her own section. If you know Chrissy, chances are you also know her mom Pepper, who has her own section of the site called Pepper Corner. So far, she's shared a papaya salad recipe, and she and Chrissy showed off their weekly Monday fridge cleaning. 3 You will feel like a family member. There's a whole section of the site dedicated to a recent trip which means all these amazing family vacays you see Chrissy and John taking on Instagram are likely to end up on 4 Chrissy shares her hot berets and family photos. One section of the site is called Hot Takes, but instead of being filled with rants and opinions, it's actually a very sweet gallery of family photos of Chrissy you can't see on her other social media feeds. According to her, if someone hack my phone, it will be all they will find. 5 There are tons of recipes. If you've already cooked through both of her cookbooks (GUILTY) you can get even more recipes from Chrissy on the site. I, for one, I'm into this chicken and artichoke Francese, but there are tons to choose from already. You can even submit a photo of her to your final product if you crave approval as bad as I do. 6 In fact, the whole site is pretty interactive. You can create an account that will allow you to bookmark recipes and content as well as comments throughout the site. 7 You get her restaurant recs. 8 She shares some of her favorite foods. If you've ever wanted to cook like Chrissy, you can even use some of her favorite tools that she shares in her special section. 10 You can ask Chrissy anything! One of the coolest features on the site is the Ask Chrissy section. There you can make an account and ask her, well, whatever I think! So far we have a very relatable question shown here about Master Chef Junior, but she also answered things about how not to smell after cooking and where to go on a date night in Los Angeles. Chrissy has just dropped (1) the first photo of her new cookbook over on Instagram and (2) the news that craving: Hungry for more is now available for pre-order. This content is imported from Instagram. You can find the same content in a different format, or you may be able to find more information on your website. It doesn't give us much more than the aforementioned things (oh, and the fact recipes for All Bagel Cream Cheese Breakfast, French Onion Soup with Croissant Croutons, Roast pork banh mi sandwiches, Philly French Dip, fried butter and pomegranate salad, and more can be expected), but we know the book is officially out on September 18. It's all fiction, but I'm sitting here stuck on the All Bagel Cream Cheese Breakfast Bake, which, a quick look at the Amazon page tells me, is literally a baked bagel-filling dish that includes a pound of sausage and a cup and a half of Gruyere - and that's up to all the cream can't wait to take this journey with you. We're in for a wild ride, my friends. PRE-ORDER NOW Hungry for more, $23.99, amazon.comFollow Delish on Instagram. Don't they know that they should keep themselves in cryogenic chambers when not at photo shoots or dating rock stars and athletes? When they go public, the whole damn system breaks down, which is what happened when Chrissy Teigen went for a walk in the East Village in New York yesterday. Teigen quickly attracted a swarm as Rice Crispy squares up at the PTA baking sale. But all these leering men should have jobs that they don't do while drooling over supermodel jobs that are complex cogs in the American economy. Leaving her home in broad daylight, Chrissy Teigen demonstrates an endless disregard for the American economy. It's completely unconscionable. We love you, Chrissy, but you have to be more responsible. Every product we tide has been independently selected and reviewed by our editorial team. If you make a purchase using the links included, we can earn a commission. Exciting news: Chrissy Teigen's pull collection to target is officially here. The line, which debuts shortly after the launch of Teigen's long-awaited second cookbook, includes more than 40 different kitchen items, ranging from glassware to cutlery to pots and pans. Each piece boasts stylish details-think, tableware countertop items, gold accents, and trend shades, as well as ridiculously affordable prices to be expected from the target collection. I've always wanted people to love what they've cooked out of my books, Teigen said in a press release. Creating the collection was a natural extension of my passion for food, and I am so glad that everyone will be proud and truly love their cuisine and tools. Below, some of the items that we are adding to our trolleys as soon as possible today (you can shop for the full collection here). But in a hurry - we guess that these parts developed by Teigen quickly sell out. this link to an external site that may or may not meet availability guidelines. Target Updated Post: October 1, 2018 at 12:16 EST ebay It's been a little over 24 hours since Chrissy Teigen's Cravings collection hit Target stores, and it's already causing madness. The utensil line has a number of stone bowls, champagne gold accented Dutch ovens, and debossed plates that look much higher end than their price tags reveal. But, if you're hitting up the store for one item in particular, watch out for Santoku serrated knife. Named Chrissy Go to the Knife, Blade is no longer in stock online, and is now listed on eBay for $50-more three its $14.99 retail price apiece. Why madness over the chef knife?! What makes this piece unique is that it's a combination of a Santoku knife (which is great for chopping vegetables cleanly and easily, being wide enough that you can use it to scoop up everything you diced and toss it into a pan) and bread knife, thanks to its jagged edge. It should slice through lemons, tomatoes and chicken breasts without problems, meaning that it can easily replace your chef's knife as your new favorite. This knife was the first to disappear, but at this rate, it wouldn't be surprising if the rest of the line flies off the shelves of stores just as fast. Here's what you can't miss: Original Post: September 13, 2018 at 18:38 ESTI will give you a minute to take place because Chrissy Teigen has just announced some important news and you will need a minute to process. At the end of this month, Chrissy Teigen's craving will hit Target stores- and no, I don't mean her cookbooks. I say the full kitchen and countertop collection of the most relatable supermodel on the web /author/lover of great food. According to Target, the collection will feature everything Chrissy likes to use when cooking. With more than 40 items in the collection ranging from $4 to $140, no aspect of the kitchen is left: utensils, cutlery, jugs- even 12-piece utensils sets. Chuck O'Grady Chuck O'Grady I always wanted people to love what they cooked out of my books, Chrissy told Target. Creating the collection was a natural extension of my passion for food. Chuck O'Grady Chuck O'Grady I really can't believe it's all happening and can't wait for you to see it all, Chrissy shared on her Instagram that you can expect to see a collection of #CHRISSYxTARGET in stores on September 30.
