Our family was blessed in 2001 with a little female named Rowen's Sommer Dream. After losing the family pet the year before, I purchased Sommer in Florida while doing business. At the time, I thought that was exactly what my wife and children needed to help them cope with the loss of our dog earlier this year. What I didn't know at the time was that I had just purchased a little fur ball to become my best friend. A few months after I got Sommer, I was in an accident and I needed surgery on my back first. Sommer lay on my back the whole time I was downstairs, leaving to eat and out. From that point on she had my heart (along with half my mine). It was the beginning of my little farm. Now, we have fur balls running all over our house (I'm not a kennel, my house is theirs). Everywhere you turn, there's a little ball of fur ready to play and make our lives a little brighter. If you give a chance, I'm sure he or she will steal your heart and make your days a lot brighter too! HomeAbout OurResourcesTestimonialsSpotanism 1 This website is dedicated to the loving memory of Rita Trebans September 17, 1931- January 17, 2006 My mother-in-law really taught me everything I needed to know about reproduction. She taught me how to cultivate shi-tzu, both for a performance and for a casual performance (cutting a puppy or cutting a teddy bear). She taught me everything about Shi-tzu from their history all the way to a few tricks in training. She and her late husband were one of shi-tzu's first growers in Alabama in the 1960s and early 1970s. After Mr. Trobanes passed away, Mom was still being groomed from her home, but got out of the breeding business. When I decided to start breeding, I felt comfortable knowing that no matter what she was always there with counseling. Her donations to Cowboy Kennel Night will always be what made it a success. I know I couldn't have done it without her and will miss her loving guidance! Please contact me at 256-468-2619. Just a few shots of Sommer over the years. We are pleased to share information about their race and concern. Below we give you a look into our dog room as well as information about our daily routine. Puppy play pens and these puppy pens are specifically designed for keeping mothers and babies, as well as babies moaning safe and healthy while they grow up. Similar to cradle or open play for children just to be indestructible for puppies. They are 1.20 meters by 1.2 square meters and on a wheelbase so that they can be transferred to ass cleaning. The higher pen cartridge pens are called cartridge units. They are designed to allow personal bedrooms for each dog. The dogs can be close but they have their own space. This is helpful because it allows us to keep a close eye on food and water consumption. Some dogs require different dietary needs due to age, pregnancy etc. All dogs love their space and we found that in this method they have a friend next to them but they can also have time to rest quietly with their bed and toys. It's their sleeping quarters at night. During the day they are on the floor in the dog room, at home or outside. Our routine and play area of our day starts at 6 a.m. when all dogs come aboard to do their thing and play. While they're Outside, pens should be wiped with bleach solution and full water bottles, as well as full feeding bowls and passed out. Babies should be fed, given fresh clean linens and new kaine pads. They stay out for about an hour and then everyone comes back for breakfast. While they eat, the papers are replaced by pens and kennel laundry begins. Time for a much-needed coffee break! At 11:00 a.m., everyone comes back out to play on board. Older puppies go out to play with the adult dogs on great socialization. During this time I do my cleaning and cultivation. Anything that needs to be done for this given day. If the weather is cold or wet then everyone is playing inside. They nap between 2 p.m. and 2 p.m. and then go out again. They love that time to play together and run and practice. We repeat the same chores at night, with changing pen papers, water bottles, messy bedding etc. We leave the TV or radio when they © 2001-2021 Bar-Ler Shai Tzu, all rights reserved. The history of the Shi Ceus race originated from distinguished backgrounds in China, where they were raised as pets in a palace. They are among the 14 oldest dog breeds in the world, and Chinese archaeologists date back to their bare bones around 8000 BC. Rumour has it they were initially initiated from Tibet and placed in Chinese Kings by Tibetan monks as gifts. Other sources say the Six Warrant is a mongrel of the dog breeds Lhasa Apso and Pakkinza. China or ancient Tibet, Xi Tzu has proved admirable through generations. From 618 to 995 AD, the dog breed is continually linked to art, paintings, sculptures and letters. Shai Ceus's first maritime record comes from the 19th century, where A woman known as Lady Brownrig took a pair of Shi Tsos Amping to England to start her kennel. They first appeared in the U.S. in 1960 after Morin Murdoch, along with her nephew, Philip Prince, imported the race. Since then, Shi Ceus has officially recognized global dog clubs. They come in black, gray, gold, heavy, brindle, white or red coats. Shi Ceus temperament are naturally friendly dogs. However, without early socialization, they can be wurlly. They're at their best around family or anyone who gives them love and attention. Shay Tzu might like it. They don't do well in an outdoor canned but enjoy playing in the courtyards and gardens. They love home and will always warm up to you or sit on your lap. They get quite connected – and fast! In the hot seasons, their flat noses make them very prone to heat. This is because the air in their ambition does not cool down in their lungs as quickly as in dogs with longer mdle. The possibility of Xi Tzu catching heatstroke is minimal in airy, air-conditioned rooms. Exercising as small dogs, Shai Ceus is satisfied with short trips every day. They don't need a lot of exercise. The owners have reported that their Shi Ceus likes to think they are birds, so don't be begrudgingly if you see your dog jumping in a slouse from sofa to sofa. Make sure your house is dog-proof as this breed is very prone to internal injury due to its delicate size. Cultivation without a doubt, cultivating a shih tzu is demanding. Their coats slow down easily and must be daily to prevent hair contact. If you can't meet the grooming requirements your Xi Tzu has, you can shorten your coat. It takes away all the glorious beauty but reduces your dog's grooming needs. They should be bathed at least once a week. Be careful when cutting their nails as they contain blood vessels and can hurt! You don't want your dog running every time you take out the Clippers. Dental care is crucial in small breeds of dogs. Regularly, brush their teeth with a soft toothbrush and clean their ears with moist wool balls to minimize infections.
