

Dear Possibilitators,

If you think back to when you became eighteen years old, were you expecting something special to happen? Something big? Something life changing? And then it did not happen?

It did not happen because modern culture is incapable of giving you what you needed: the beginning of your Authentic Adulthood Initiatory Processes. Your five bodies were waiting for this, but the doorway did not open.

And then you were left alone, stuck deep inside of your mechanical reaction survival strategy, invited to join the zombie work forces in the corporate-controlled spiderweb that many people call 'normal life'.

Now we learn that 'normal life' is exterminating life on planet Earth, at least one species each hour of the day and night. Modern culture has failed to create a bright future for humanity. What then shall you do?

If you are reading these words, it is likely that you have been exploring the limits of modern culture. When you discover an edge, and stay there, and look back over your shoulder, you can see that most people do not realize modern culture has edges.

If you look outwards beyond the edge you begin to see that there are a great variety of alternative possibilities. There are Bridges. There are Pathways. There are Practices and mind-altering Experiences. Which one to choose? There is no official authority presiding over the world of Adulthood Initiations to rate each one up to five stars. You are on your own about this choice.

Probably you have already tried a few. Most of them stay in their original track, often referring to their past or their indigenous origins as endorsement of their worth.

The problem is, we need new kinds of Adulthood Initiations now, Initiations that never existed before. We need Initiations that put our Center of Responsibility radically on ourselves, not on an already known source such as the ancestors or traditions. We need Initiations that train us to invent and evolve, not to conform and obey. This way we learn to evolve fast enough to move ahead of the collapse curves and chart new pathways. Then we can create and inhabit next culture, and help other people across the Bridges when they find them.

It is these kinds of Adulthood Initiations that are being created and provided by Possibility Management Teams around the world since 1975. These are the kinds of well researched and solidly grounded Initiations delivered at Expand The Box training and Possibility Labs.

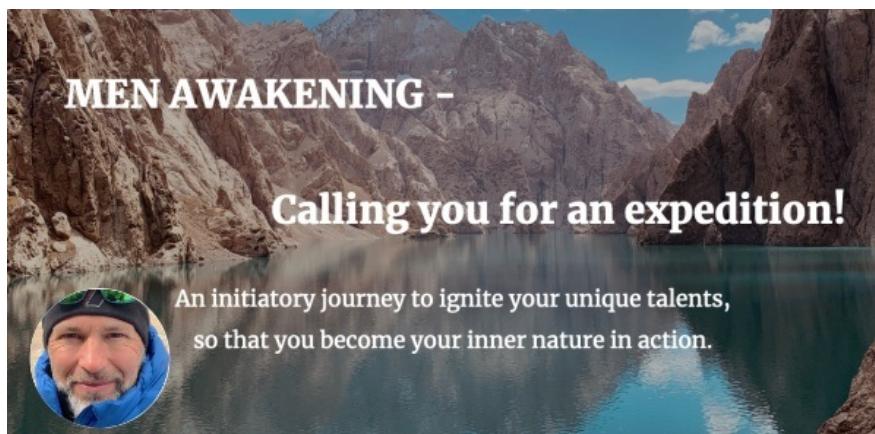

Perhaps we will welcome you there soon. If so, you are welcome.

Love from your Possibility Management News Team

Outdoor Women's Lab

Since most of us have grown up in a patriarchal environment dominated by the mind, we inevitably abandon the female magical access to the world. Re-establishing this reconnection is one of the important components of the Outdoor Women's Lab. Here you can experience access to the archetypal feminine.
