Parental / Legal Guardian Consent Form

Hello!

I am Dr. Jamie Chiu, a clinical psychologist helping schools better support the wellbeing of their students.

I am developing a series of resources for teenagers to learn how to deal with stress and pressure. During the initial roll-out phase, students are given the opportunity to provide feedback if they wish to do so.

This is a consent form to allow your child to participate in a feedback session with me. The interview will be conducted through a secure video-conferencing platform online and will take about one hour. In the interview, I will ask them a number of questions related to what they know about stress management and taking care of their wellbeing.

Some important notes:

- Identifying information will not be recorded. All interview information will be kept strictly confidential and anonymous.
- If at any point, your child feels uncomfortable, they will not be pressed to continue and will be given opportunities to skip questions or stop participation entirely.
- Your child may choose to tell you about the interview and their responses to my questions, but they do not have to do this. I will not be sharing the questions nor responses given by your child.
- If your child expresses interest, they can continue to provide feedback to me as more resources are launched.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach me at jamie@thebrightlyproject.com

Sincerely,

Dr. Jamie Chiu, Clinical Psychologist

The Brightly Project
