Bob Dunsire Bagpipe Forums's General Discussion of the Music View Full Version: Music If You Don't Find Something to Your Taste We Can Discuss Features and Come Up With Everything You Need to Meet your Case Requirements. I take requests and suggestions, and on a number of occasions learned new tunes that were favorites requested by my clients. Note that in order to minimize file sizes, many of these clips have been deliberately shortened. However, any music you choose can be performed in full or be easily elongated or otherwise taylorred in to fit your preferences or the timing of your ceremony. Listen to the media player on the right for a few of the more familiar tunes or click on any of the links in the tables below to listen to MP3 clips of my pipeline. If necessary, use your browser's BACK button to get back to this page. The combination of organ tubes and bagpipes will create a unique and extended listening experience. The note sheet is available below in PDF format for Highland Cathedral and Crying for Iain Ruadh. NOTE - Please consider this in advance: Since Highland bagpipes are significantly sharp from the concert pitch, my Bb-pitch fox pipe must be used or the organ must be customizable (electronic) to be able to match the standard pitch pipe (A'480-ish). The appropriate time should be set aside for the performance to be set up and for a brief rehearsal with the organist (usually 10-20 minutes). Once this is achieved, the result will be very exciting and worth the extra time. Please watch the Highland Cathedral video on my Video page to enjoy the full effect! Being what I order online, I expected my order to be processed and sent in a very mechanical process. When I received the package, I was glad to see handwritten notes and a free piece of music. I buy a lot of notes online, this order made me feel much, much more like a valued customer than any other store. I want to pass on my personal and appreciation for your yours Service. I love Mike's music and I am very grateful for the extra steps taken to make me feel valuable! Thank you and I will definitely be a repeat customer! Written with a smile. Brian just wanted to send a thank you note for my perfectly packaged con Te Partiro order and my free just for the fun Spread Joy notes! Can't wait to get started on both! I hope you and everyone in mikestrickland.com have a blessed day. -Dana Sarah Brightman and Andrea Bocelli, Katherine Jenkins, Andrea Bocelli and 9 more viewing our 19 arrangements Time to say goodbye.
