Guidelines for auto service in COVID-19 environment

Andy Fiffick

On April 20, MACS submitted letters to EPA, CDC and OSHA requesting guidance on best practices for auto repair in the current COVID-19 environment.

We followed up on May 4 with Alexandra Dapolito Dunn, Esq., Assistant Administrator of the Office of Chemical Safety and Pollution Prevention at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. Ms. Dunn acknowledged receipt of the letter, and said her team is working on a response.

As we await that response, we continue to explore this subject. In a recent report, Repairer Driven News related guidelines the CDC has issued: “The CDC has offered guidance to drivers of ride-share, food-delivery and non-emergency vehicles on cleaning and disinfecting vehicles during the pandemic. However, it did not issue specific information on handling vehicles for the hundreds of thousands of automotive professionals nationwide.”
