Amish view inn restaurant

What started as a 48-seat family restaurant called Stuck's, Amish Door Restaurant has grown, which it has today through the hard work and dedication of Milo and Anna Kathryn Miller. The couple first poured coffee and served a roasted chicken dinner for guests in March 1977 in the restaurant's original location, which is now part of the Amish door market. In 1982, a rustic barn was added, increasing the seating from 48 to 325. The larger crowds inspired the construction of a new restaurant, which is 450th. The gift shop and Amish Door Bakery also opened in the new building. Over the next 5 years, Amish Door Village will continue to grow in addition to Hasseman House Bed & Breakfast, banquet center, and Inn at Amish Door. In 2010, the transformation gave Amish a new look. In 2018, Amish's door celebrates 41 years of business.
