Field of the Invention This invention relates generally to a power amplifier, and more particularly to a power amplifier system for wireless communication such as a CDMA (code division multiple access) communication system, and a control method for the power amplifier system. 2. Description of the Related Art One of the most important technical issues in wireless communications is to realize a power amplifier system capable of outputting a high power output while suppressing a power consumption and circuit loss. As one of the conventional power amplifier systems which meet such a requirement, there is a system which applies a power amplifier formed of a plurality of amplifying units each having a power switch arranged in parallel with a DC-to-DC converter to a switching circuit for switching in accordance with a power output level so as to realize a switching amplifier with a low loss. As one of the power amplifier systems realized by the switching amplifier, there is known a CDMA (code division multiple access) communication system. In this system, 520fdb1ae7
