Fire emblem three houses tea party answers reddit

Flag-Yield HistoryIn Fire Emblem Three Houses, you'll be more likely to connect with your students and other characters by inviting them to tea. This can be done either when exploring the Garreg Mach Monastery and interacting with characters in your home, or talking to characters outside your home who have at least C support, or when choosing to celebrate a character's birthday for a week. To activate a Tea Party, you must complete a quest in Ferdinand's chapter 4 to give a stylish tea set as a gift to Lorenz. Once finished, you will be able to invite characters to have tea. When a character accepts a request for tea (if they refuse, you won't be able to ask them until the following week), you'll be able to choose from all the tea leaves you own to brew a pot of tea. You can find more tea leaves either by exploring the monastery, completing quests, gardening and growing some seeds, or buying them from the item dealers once the quests are complete to allow them to settle in the market. At first glance, the type of tea seems unattractive for the overall mini-game. However, you may find that the characters find a specific tea more favorable than others, and will comment specifically with a box of text on how good the tea is. After serving tea, you will have three prompts for the topics of conversation. Each will give you three different prompts, and you will have a limited amount of time to choose the subject you think resonates with the most character. Each character has different likes and dislikes, and you'll need to use that knowledge to choose the best possible option. Prompts are randomized each time, and you can find anywhere from one to two acceptable answers for each session. If you succeed, the character will like your choice, and you will move on to the next one. If you choose the wrong answer, the character will express their displeasure. If you choose 2 erroneous topics, teatime will end on a bad note - but you don't lose links. If you manage to choose at least 2 good subjects, you will get a nice Teatime, and increase your link with the character by a small amount. If you manage to get the 3 correct subjects, you enter the final round. The character will then make a statement, or ask a question, and you will have to choose between one of the three answers - much of how you choose between conversation prompts. Answer wrong, and you will always get a great teatime, but if you answer correctly, you will get a perfect teatime, will greatly increase your bond. If you've purchased the Expansion Pass, complete the story on the side of the ash shadows to unlock a Constance quest. Complete it, and you'll win an article that tells you if you're about to pick the wrong topic - that works once per teatime event! If you brew this character's favorite tea, you'll find that you can still achieve a perfect teatime even if you choose a option, as their favorite tea basically gives you a do-over. During the conclusion of perfect tea time, you will be able to give the character extra gifts to increase their bond, or just watch the character as they animate and react to your prompts, and zoom in for a little extra dialogue as you watch them. Ending a perfect teatime will also give both you and the participant Charm, and this can be done twice with each character, allowing you to gain a massive amount of charm if you play your cards well. A character can be invited to tea for as many times as you have activity points, or until they refuse the invitation. To think your favorite tea with Marianne or Raphael during teatime, below is a continuous list of each character's known favorite tea, as well as all the conversation topics they like, and also their best reactions to the statements they make at the end. TIP: When you are presented with a list of topics, quickly press the home button of your Switch to pause the game and view the list of topics on this page before resuming the game to make your selection!
