Stan Smith, who works for the CIA and is constantly on the alert for terrorist activity, will go to extremes to protect his beloved America from harm; as evidenced by the terror-alert color code on its refrigerator, and its frequent knee-jerk reaction of shooting holes in the grill when the toast appears. In addition to Stan's wife and teenage children, the Smith household has two rather unconventional members. There's Roger, the sarcastic space alien who saved Stan from Area 51 who deeply resents the fact that he's not allowed to leave the house, and thus, has been reduced to drinking wine and smoking cigarettes, and Klaus, a boarding, German-speaking goldfish; the result of a CIA experiment went seriously wrong where the CIA was trying to give a fish a German man's brain. Stan's son is a dorky teenager trying to be cool. His wife had a previous life of sex and drugs. Movies TV Shows »[RRRITATED] honey? Do I hear the sound of chicken legs disapproving of the disposal?
