The palm reading guide frank c clifford pdf

Course Discover the skills, tools and techniques you need to become a successful hand reader. Learn your craft with one of the world's leading palmists, Frank Clifford of the London School of Astrology. In this unique, autonomous course Franks: • Show, how to read the personality traits, abilities and needs of your hands • Help you discover important features found in your hand • Offers simple ways to build clear and useful interpretations • Teach you time methods • Work with case studies from your client's files, famous people and course students along the way, you will be introduced to many useful tips and considerations collected by Frank during his 25 years as a counseling palm. Students will also be sent various articles written by Frank and other palmists. All are welcome and do not require prior knowledge of palmistry. Structure There are 10 one-hour, pre-recorded lessons and up to 8 hours of live Q&A by Frank. Each week, one pre-recorded (video and sound) class will be uploaded so you can access it, and of course there will also be four live, 2-hour Q&A sessions with Frank. These question and a sessions will also be recorded if students are unable to attend live coverage. (See graph below.) During your time studying with us, Frank will contact you regularly and you will be asked to submit questions (about the course content and your hands) during the course dates. Most of them will be answered in Q&A sessions. All class links/records will be open to students until the graduation exam deadline of November 1, 2021. Principles of Palmistry: Our approach to study palmistry can offer a clear insight into our innate nature, our needs and preferences, as well as our attitude to current circumstances. This can help us diagnose recurring problems in relationships, discover the true expectations and needs of others and recognize the games we play and the useless roles we can sometimes take on. It can convince us of our talents, discover our life's problems and herald opportunities. Instead of revealing a fixed pattern – an unchangeable fate – our hands provide vital information about our temperament, personality and current motivations and drives. Our hands are the symbols of life in our lives, as it currently is. Your Tutor: Frank Clifford Frank has written a dozen books on astrology and palmism, guest edited Mountain Astrologer many times, and given over 1,000 conversations, lectures and seminars to more than a dozen national students, businesses, banks and universities. His two books, Palmistry 4 Today (Random House/Ride 2002, new edition: Flare 2009) and Palm Reading (Hamlyn 2004, new edition, Palm Reading Guide, Ilex 2019) have been translated into a dozen languages. He started the London School of Astrology in 2004 and has since helped generation of the new generation and palmistry. In 2012, Frank won a lifetime achievement award (Charles Harvey Award) for his contribution to astrology and was awarded the 2016 ISAR award for writing, Regulus Award nomination for professional characters followed by UAC 2018. Homework, Tasks and LSA Diploma in Palmyra There are ten tasks (all found in Palmistry 4 Pasas version today). They are optional, characterized by Frank and LSA, and included in the price, of course. Those of you who pass all ten tasks by the LSA will receive a diploma in Palmistry from the London School of Astrology. In a couple of stages, of course, you will be given advice on how to fill these questions. We invite you to start tasks while participating in the course, but you will be more than three months after the final Q&A; A to complete the tasks. The official deadline for the submission of everything shall be 1 November 2021. There will be some extra homework and reading kit for you to complete in your time – it won't be noted, but it will be an opportunity for you to explore your hands as you progress through the course. The fees below include all tuition, noting assignments (there will be a small, additional fee of £30 for any re-takes) and post final LSA diplomas.
