Leaving on a jet plane ukulele pdf

Leaving on a Jet Plane is a perfect song to start the ukulele players I often teach in basic lessons. John Denver's simple chords follow a predictable pattern that allows you to look less at the page and more time to focus on playing and singing. C F All my bags are packed I'm ready to go C F I'm out here outside your door C F G7 I hate waking you up to say goodbye C F But the sunrise is breaking is soon mom C F The taxi is trying to blow its horn C F G7 Already I'm so lonely I could die Chorus : C F So kiss me and smile for me C F Tell me you'll expect me C F G7 Keep me as if I never left myself go C F Because I'm going on a jet plane C F I don't know when I'll be back again C F G7 Oh, honey I hate to go C F C C C There's a lot of times I've let you down C F So many times I've played around C F G7 I tell you now they don't mean a C F thing Every place I go I'll think of you C F Every song I sing for you C F G7 When I come back I bring you'r Chorus wedding ring> C F Now it's time to leave you C F Once again let me kiss you C F G7 Then close your eyes I'll be on my way C F Dream on the days to come C F When I won't sleep to leave C F G7 alone On the times when I won't sleep say Chorus> Free PDF download The original recording is in G , but it's so easy in C that I had to use it instead. If you want to transpose, you can use: C = G, F = C, G7 = D7. Since it's such a simple song, I highly recommend you try to play it without a lyric sheet. Using your ear you train to hear chord changes and will become a much more rounded musician because of that. It's not hard to deal with a song like this. As long as you start with the right deal, you always only have two options! If one doesn't sound good, try the other. For example, if you start along with John Denver (in G), you start singing about a G deal on bags. From there you are going to C or D7. If you play C, it'll sound like the song. If you play D7 the melody and chords collide and collide with each other telling you that the right option must be C. If you do this every time you change deals on your ukulele, Leaving on a Jet Plane will soon be a no-brainer without the card.
