In the View Tab menu, the "Show Hidden Objects" option is not selected. Are all hidden objects automatically hidden? By the way, one of my hidden objects was highlighted in the image posted below. Why do I still need an administrator account for this installation of AutoCAD LT? Is it different from a license key? When you run the setup program, it prompts you to input a license key. If you don't, the software cannot be installed. In fact, the software is not installed even if you provide a license key! Instead, you need to connect to the internet to purchase a license key. When you run the software and then install the software, it installs and registers a software license. This software I am trying to print one 520fdb1ae7
