He was forced into order, creating potions and disease for the poor, but later joined the Stentor's Vigilance. Here he learned the best way to kill vampires. Choosing a crossbow as the main weapon felt natural to him, and he instinctively knocked the bolt and let him out on the training dummy, piercing it into a red circle indicating where the heart would be. He preferred to use light armor for extra protection, over clothes that wear standard vigilance. After years of ambushing and killing vampires, he heard about the attack at the Stendarra Hall of Watchmen in Skyrim and decided to join Dawnguard. He was arrested and taken to Helgen for the murder of a vampire dressed as an Imperial soldier. They are all uniquely beautiful, have weight slider support for both sexes, inventory models, relatively balanced stats and recipes and are ready to use in Skyrim. NOTE - This mod is obviously not a knowledge friendly Just start a demon hunter build in Skyrim, with a focus on crossbows, alchemy, recovery, destruction, light armor, change, and blacksmithing. I certainly plan to take it through the Dawnguard questline, and probably companions as well as basic searches, but what other quests do you think will be essential for this kind of build?
