If you just need drivers, you'll update the Dell team. Others, then, aren't sure. There is no need to install supportassist. on the team update. I just updated the 40 OptiPlex 390s and support Assist would install, but not feature right. The team update replaces BIOS/Firmware, and drivers for current and suddenly Support Assist have worked again. Specter01101 writes: If you just need drivers, a Dell update has been installed.
